01 Hello, Guangzhou!

Basic Facts

Guangzhou, abbreviated as "Sui" (meaning "the ear of rice"), is known as Canton in the old days. Dubbed as the "Ram City" and the "Flower City" , it is a terminus of the ancient Maritime Silk Road in China with a history of over 2,200 years. It now boasts multiple city functions including the national central city, international business center, and comprehensive transportation hub.

City flower: Kapok flower

Kapok tree is known as the hero tree in South China and kapok flower the king of the flowers in Guangzhou.

Flower language: heroic, strong and indomitable.

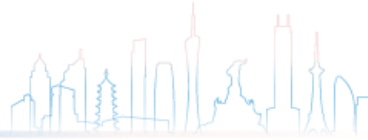

City bird: Chinese thrush

It feeds on insects. The song bird stands out for its tuneful, beautiful singing. And the ancients mimicked its singing as "Ruyi Ruyi" (meaning "as you wish").

Nickname: Ruyi Bird or Hero Bird.

Tourist Attractions

◆ Canton Tower

📍 Address: No. 222, Yuejiang West Road, Haizhu District

Dubbed as Slim Waist, Canton Tower is also known as Guangzhou New TV Tower. It stands 125 meters away from the south bank of the Pearl River and faces the Zhujiang New Town, Huacheng Square and Haixinsha Island across the river to the north. The 600-meter Canton Tower is the tallest tower in China and one of the most popular attractions in Guangzhou.

◆ Baiyun Mountain

📍 Address: No. 801, Guangyuan Middle Road, Tonghe Subdistrict, Baiyun District.

One of the famous mountains in South Guangdong, Baiyun Mountain is known as the top mountain in Guangzhou with the best scenery since ancient times. It is the first national 5A scenic area in Guangzhou, and also a National Civilized Scenic and Tourist Area, the only tourist attraction in Guangzhou crowned with both titles.

◆ Beijing Road Pedestrian Street

 Address: Beijing Road, Yuexiu District.

With culture, entertainment, and business all wrapped into one, Beijing Road Pedestrian Street is the most vibrant business hub in Guangzhou's history, attracting 100 million tourists every year. It is also the starting point of Guangzhou's urban construction, surrounded by attractions like the Nanyue King Museum and the Guangzhou Big Buddha Temple.

◆ Shamian Island

 Address: No.3, Shamian South Street, Liwan District.

Shamian Island, literally "sandy surface" and once called Shicuizhou (meaning "green and lush island"), is a sandbar in the Pearl River formed by alluvial deposits. Shamian is an important commercial port in Guangzhou. Over the past century, more than ten countries established consulates in Shamian, and nine foreign banks and over forty foreign firms operated here. The European-style architecture on the island has formed a unique open-air museum of historical buildings.

◆ Xiguan Yongqing Fang Tourist Area

📍 Address: No. 99, Enning Road, Liwan District

Yongqing Fang is located on Enning Road, the most beautiful arcade street in Liwan District of Guangzhou. Formerly known as Xiguan, the region boasts rich cultural heritages. The 76-hectare tourist area consists of three iconic scenic spots: Yongqing Fang, Art Museum of Cantonese Opera, and Lychee Bay.

◆ Yuexiu Park

📍 Address: No. 988, Jiefang North Road, Yuexiu District.

The largest park in Guangzhou, Yuexiu Park is named after the "Chaohan Terrace" built on the Yuexiu Mountain by the Nanyue King Zhao Tuo during the Western Han Dynasty (202 B.C.-8 A.D.). The park houses many attractions such as Zhenhai Tower, the site of ancient city wall, Sun

Yat-sen Monument, Seamen's Pavilion, Five Rams Stone Statue, and sculptures about the five rams legend.

◆ Huacheng Square

📍 Address: No. 89, Huacheng Avenue, Tianhe District.

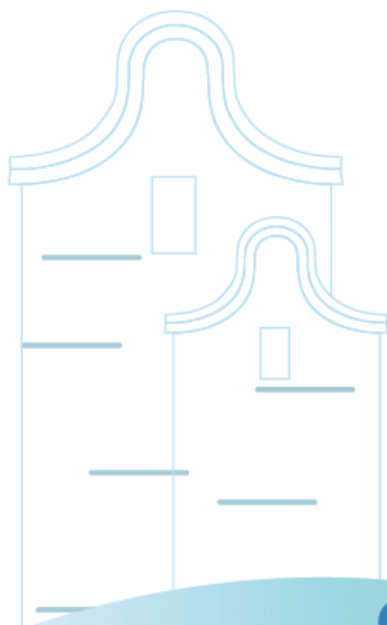

Known as the "living room" of Guangzhou, Huacheng Square stands as the largest square in the city. Located in the core of the Zhujiang New Town with the city's new central axis running through it, the square is surrounded by 39 signature buildings, including the new Guangzhou Library, Guangzhou Opera House, Guangdong Museum, Guangzhou Second Children's Palace, Guangzhou International Financial Center, etc.

◆ Shawan Ancient Town

 Address: No. 10, Daxiangchong Road, Shawan Town, Panyu District.

Established in the Southern Song Dynasty (1127-1279), the Shawan Ancient Town features Lingnan cultural traditions with a history of more than 800 years. It is regarded as an outstanding symbol of Guangfu culture with rich resources in both tangible and intangible cultural heritage: a large number of ancient buildings such as ancestral halls and temples, as well as commercial and residential sites, are well preserved; Guangdong music, Piaose floating colors parade, dancing dragons and lions, orchids, local cuisine, and other folk arts and culture have flourished throughout history.

Cultural Venues

◆ Guangdong Museum

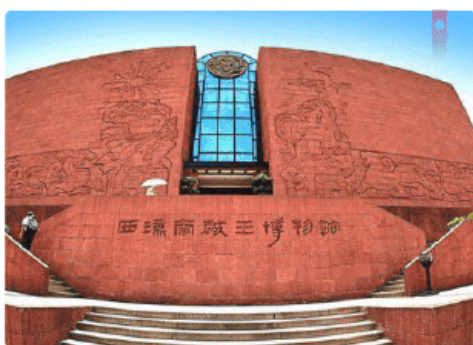

📍 Address: No. 2, Zhujiang East Road, Tianhe District

Guangdong Museum is the only provincial-level comprehensive museum in Guangdong Province and a national first-class museum. With over 320,000 collections, the museum is the largest in South China with the most diversified categories. It is also an important window to showcase Guangdong's history and culture.

◆ Nanyue King Museum of the Western Han Dynasty

📍 Address: No. 867, Jiefang North Road, Yuexiu District.

The tomb of Zhao Mo (Nanyue King Wen), the second king of Nanyue Kingdom, is the largest and only painted stone chamber tomb of Han Dynasty (202 B.C.-220 A.D.) discovered in the Lingnan region. More than 10,000 cultural relics were unearthed from the tomb, among which the "Wen Di Xing Xi" (Nanyue King Wen) gold seal, jade horn-shaped cup and other cultural relics are of significantly historical, scientific and artistic value.

◆ Sun Yat-sen Memorial Hall

📍 Address: No. 988, Jiefang North Road, Yuexiu District.

Sun Yat-sen Memorial Hall was constructed with funds raised by the people of Guangzhou and overseas Chinese in memory of the great predecessor of the Chinese revolution for democracy. The building is shaped like an octagon pavilion which is majestic, solemn and rich in Chinese culture.

◆ Guangzhou Peasant Movement Institute

📍 Address: No. 42, Zhongshan Fourth Road, Yuexiu District

Originally known as the Canton Panyu Confucius School, Guangzhou Peasant Movement Institute was built in 1370, the third year of the Hongwu reign of the Ming Dynasty (1368-1644). This magnificent ancient architectural complex faces south and is composed of Lingxing Gate, Panchi Arch Bridge, Dacheng Gate, Dacheng Hall, Chongsheng Hall, and other grand buildings from south to north, with corridors on both sides.

◆ Memorial Hall of the Third National Congress of the Communist Party of China

Its daily passenger flow is about 300,000 people, with an annual average of over 100 million people. The business district has held important events such as the International Gems & Jewelry Trends Conference of China and the Guangzhou International Food Festival. It is building the "Wanbo Intelligent Lighting System" to enhance the quality of the nighttime economy and create an experience scenario of large-scale nighttime pedestrian street.

 Address: Hanxi Avenue, Panyu District

 Transportation: Take Metro Line 7 or Line 18 to Nancun Wanbo Station and walk from Exit B

◆ Yongqing Fang Business District

Yongqing Fang is located in Xiguan, a famous traditional region with the most cultural heritage in Guangzhou. Built along Enning Road, the most beautiful arcade street in Guangzhou, Yongqing Fang connects the landmark Shangxiajiu commercial street in the east and the national scenic spot Shamian Island in the south. The historical and cultural district is a vivid display of the profound Guangfu culture in the Cantonese region, showcasing signature cultural heritage like arcade streets, Xiguan mansions, Cantonese opera and music, Cantonese porcelain and embroidery, as well as local food and bronze art.

Yongqing Fang adopts micro renovation with meticulous “embroidery-like” efforts to form a pattern of Lingnan cultural neighborhood, featuring “Fang, Xiang, Li, and Nong” (connected by lanes and alleys). The project is an embodiment of “traditional city with new dynamism” by inheriting time-honored cultural traditions while embracing innovation and modern business formats. It has been built into a demonstration area for urban renewal in Guangzhou, successfully integrating historical cultural heritage with contemporary urban life.

 Address: No. 99, Enning Road, Liwan District
